

Andrew J. Rettenmaier, Executive Associate Director, Private Enterprise Research Center, Texas A&M University

Andrew Rettenmaier received his Ph.D. in Economics from Texas A&M University. His research focuses on income and wealth inequality, labor economics, health care policy, and elderly entitlement programs. He co-authored The Economics of Medicare Reform, W. E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research and The Diagnosis and Treatment of Medicare, AEI Press. He was an editor of Medicare Reform: Issues and Answers, University of Chicago Press. He has been co-principal investigator on several research grants, has published numerous public policy monographs and academic articles. As part of the team at the Private Enterprise Research he also contributes to the monthly publication of Economic Indicators of the College Station-Bryan MSA.